

Final Reading Reaction

PHI 375/SPM 375

Due November 16, 2013

Please write 4-6 pages on some topic related to your term paper. The best way to use this assignment is as a rough draft to your rough draft. Tell me what the gist of your term paper is. Try out the main argument as it stands now. Obviously this can't be as long as your rough draft. One difference between the way you write this and the way you write your rough draft is that you may presuppose I know the details of the things we've read for this assignment (although all of the details immediately relevant to your argument still need to be explicated). In the term paper you must assume I know nothing of what we've read.
