

Reflection on Psychology of Motivation

PHI 375/SPM 375

Due October 11, 2013

Please write 2-3 pages about whether you think the work done by psychologists on motivation illuminates the philosophical topics in the course. You may argue that it doesn't in fact illuminate the topic. But, if you do this, you must explain why. You can draw on any aspect of the readings as evidence for your thesis. You may also draw on other literature from psychology. If you do so, you must provide proper citations. You must clearly state your thesis in the first paragraph. The paper should contain many paragraphs dedicated to arguing for your thesis. It should end with a clear summary of the argument (a la your prose summary in an argument analysis).

Note that this paper is not due until 5pm on Friday October 11th.
